WORLD PREMIERE: TRAPPED AT TEA TIME
When the water boils, life takes a turn!

Hollywood, CA: American playwright Marcos Cohen, originally from Uruguay, has created a dramatic comedy based on a true story that happened to his family. The story is about an 80 year-old holocaust survivor who is taken hostage in her apartment by a robber. As the play unfolds the characters reveal personal stories and conflicts, discovering they share a common past. Thus begins a paradigm shift, where human values are redeemed above the material world and the harsh reality entrapping them. Our intention is to raise social awareness to improve society by being more sensitive and caring human beings despite outward differences. This play is directed by Linda Alznauer and produced for the Hollywood Fringe Festival 2018 at The Actors Company in Hollywood, CA.
